No. 18 NOV. 1994

Cabaret Mechanical Theatre

Ohhh, don't we know it; choosing Christmas presents can be hard! But don't worry, CMT Bumper Issue No. 18 is dedicated to turning your money into something wooden and moving. In other words, that ideal Christmas token of love and Hey! Let's get on with it!

BAD NEWS

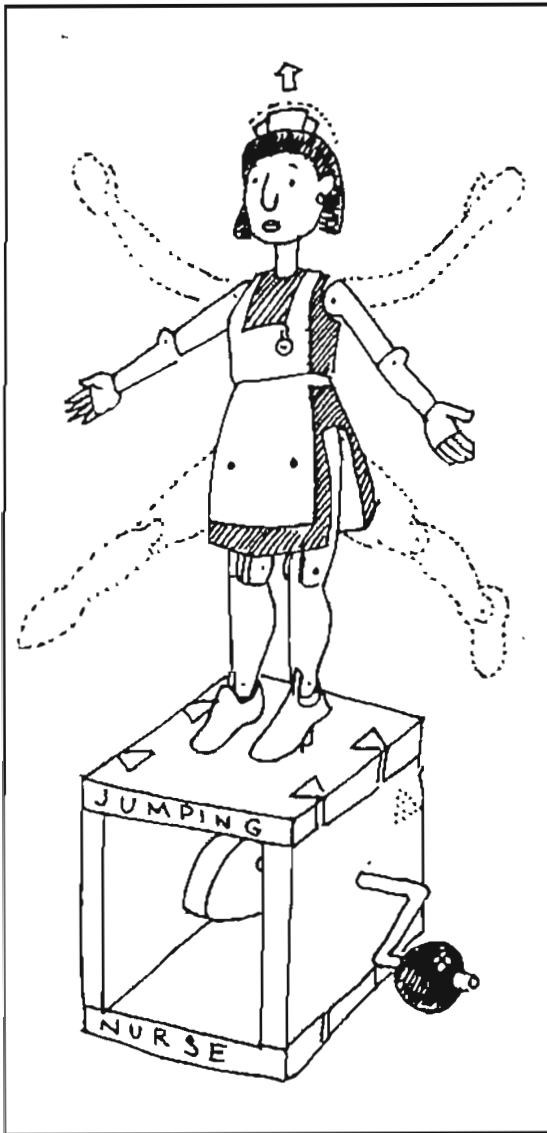

Want to leave that 'partner' but short on ideas? Well! Paul Spooner made a big 'Bad News' machine for a short film which will be broadcast on Channel Four (UK) early next year. The months spent making it gave him the idea to design this smaller, 14 Balls Toy Co version. It's only available in the depicted sexual orientation - i.e. determined woman, feeble man. See picture for description and dimensions. Limited edition of only 24 made by Matt Smith. Cost = £395.50. NB: These are very complex little machines and although we hope and expect to have some in time for Xmas it would be wise to phone your order and check availability - especially if you're not resident in the UK.

JUMPING NURSE

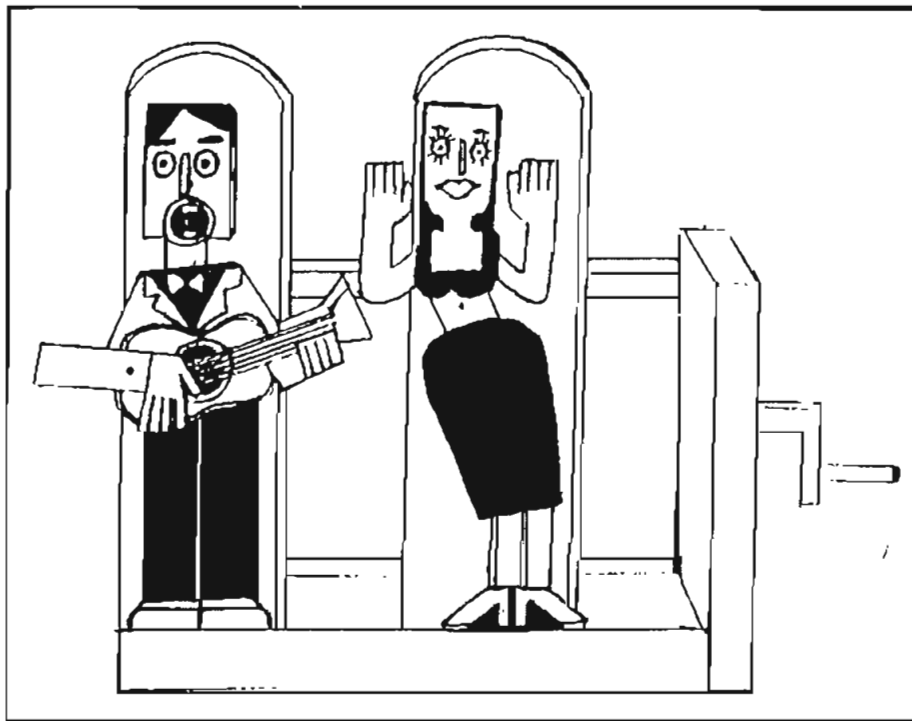

We asked for Flying Santas and Leaping Reindeers but this is what we got. We are told that it's the first in a new series of 'Trades and Professions at Keep Fit Classes'. Is delivering toys down chimneys a trade? Perhaps they'll do Santa next year. The nurse jumps vigorously when you turn the handle. Another 14 Baller. 16cm high £132.50.

BOY SCOUT

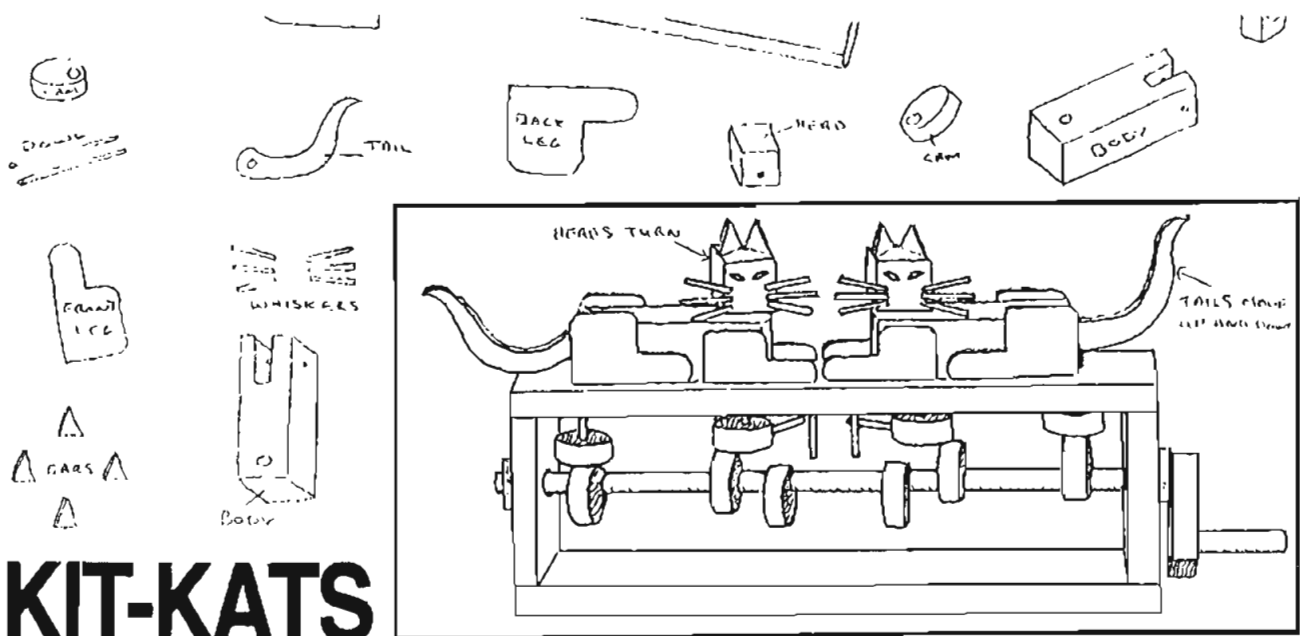

Even stranger, less Christmassy but much cheaper is the ever-ready 'Boy Scout'. I suppose you could add your own tinsel around his hat for the festive period. But, anyway, 14 Balls again. LOOK! Small but cheap! £21.50.

GUITAR

This horrible drawing doesn't do justice to the Peter Markey designed 'Guitarist and Dancer'. Nor can you see the bright colours and slinky movement. It's made by Susie Stolpe and you won't be disappointed. 6.5 x 7.5 inches. £49.50.

KIT-KATS

This one is a kit. 'Copy Cat', No. 1 in a series of Kat Kits. You get all the bits but you have to fix it together and paint it yourself (or leave it plain wood for that fashionable crafty look). Cost is a mere £15.50 and it measures 13 x 25 cm. when complete. Made by Susie Stolpe.

ANGEL

That ever popular CMT Xmas Angel is back. This year she comes as an easy to assemble card cutout with gold wings, choice of heads, etc. 6ins tall when constructed. £1.95 OR £3.95 if you want all the hard work done for you (i.e. neatly cut-out, coloured and assembled flat-pack stylee).

OTHER STUFF

Paul Spooner's 'Flight into Egypt' (featuring that well known Christian family with arms-a-flapping) has been beautifully photographed for a CMT Xmas card. Contains message - Happy Christmas and Best Wishes for the New Year. (£1.20 each) Like all this other stuff, you can't buy it anywhere else.
